

Law and Economics

Course Content: This course will explore the field of law and economics. We will use microeconomic tools to examine torts, contracts, and property law as well as the theory and empirical evidence on the economics of crime and punishment. This course is taught with the expectation that students have completed Economics 201.

Office Hours: Office hours will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2:15-3:15pm and on Thursdays from 4-5pm. Students who are unable to come during these times are encouraged to make an appointment.

Text and Required Reading: The principal textbook for this course is Law and Economics (6th edition) by Robert Cooter and Thomas Ulen. Readings will also be drawn from Dau-Schmidt and Ulen's Law and Economics Anthology. Students are responsible for the required readings on the attached list and for additional readings that will occasionally be announced in class. Students are expected to contribute to the class by posting examples of relevant legal issues from news sources such as The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, and The Economist on the course Moodle site.

Evaluation: Evaluation will be based on a paper that analyzes a recent property, contract, or tort case, a midterm and final examination, and class participation.

Assignment List, Due Dates, and Exam Schedule: The following is a list of assignments and due dates. All assignments are due in-class on the date listed below. In fairness to other students, late assignments will be penalized 1 letter grade for each day past the due date. Assignments handed in more than 3 days after the due date will not be accepted. Please contact me as soon as possible if there are extenuating circumstances (illness, personal emergency) that justify an extension.

The comprehensive final examination will be administered during finals week. The date for the final examination will be confirmed by the Registrar's Office at mid-semester.

Examinations:

Midterm Examination: Friday, March 9th

Final Examination: Set by the Registrar's Office at mid-semester
