Fit and Feisty:
Cultural and Scientific Perspectives on Sports

an interdisciplinary symposium for middle school students and their parents & teachers

Saturday, February 25, 2006

Registration
Sign up for workshops
Refreshments served
Kaul Auditorium

Welcome
Peter Steinberger
Dean of the Faculty
Kaul Auditorium

Keynote Presentation
The Meaning of Sport
Nigel Nicholson, Walter Mintz Associate Professor of Classics
The Health-Fitness Connection
Stephen Arch, Laurens N. Ruben Professor of Biology

At the conclusion of the above talks, participants will have an opportunity to discuss ideas raised in the presentation with both their tablemates and the group as a whole

Morning Workshops
Students and parents/teachers will meet in small groups led by Reed faculty members and Reed students for different workshops related to the day’s theme Conference Rooms

Lunch
Optional tours of campus conducted by current Reed students
Kaul Auditorium

Afternoon Workshops
Students and parents/teachers choose a different workshop from the morning
Conference Rooms

Break
Kaul Auditorium

Conclusion of program for those who wish to depart after the afternoon workshop

Optional Session:
Destination College
Reed Admission staff
Kaul Auditorium

Students and parents/teachers are invited to join the dean of admission for a discussion of planning for college in the not so distant future

Program and registration information:
http://web.reed.edu/outreach_programs/middle_school/index.html