If your withdrawal from the College was related to academic, social, psychological or other difficulties, please discuss in your statement how those difficulties have been resolved, and why you anticipate a more successful experience at Reed. If you were on probation when you left Reed, you will need to meet with your adviser and complete a Progress Plan the semester you return. If you were denied registration by the Faculty when you left Reed, you must provide evidence that the difficulties which caused your poor grades have been addressed successfully. Letters of recommendation from faculty would strengthen your request for readmission.

If you have received psychological counseling during your time away, please give your counselor written permission to discuss your case with the Director of Health Services at Reed, and provide the name of your counselor below.
