

CRES–ANTHROPOLOGY

A. Common CRES Core Requirements

1. Disciplinary CRES courses: One pair from each group (I and II) outside the home department

Group I: Arts, Literature, and Religion

- Two Dance units, including at least one CRES Dance unit
- Two Literature units, including at least one CRES Literature unit
- Two Music units, including at least one CRES Music unit
- Two Religion units, including at least one CRES Religion unit
- Two Theatre units, including at least one CRES Theatre unit

Group II: History and Social Science

 - Two History units, including at least one CRES History unit
 - Two Linguistics units, including at least one CRES Linguistics unit
 - Sociology 211 and one CRES Sociology unit
2. CRES interdisciplinary requirement (one unit): CRES 300.
3. CRES thesis: CRES 470

B. Home Department Requirements

Students must fulfill the following course requirements (Disciplinary CRES requirements can count towards home department requirements):

1. 7 units of Anthropology, including Anthropology 211 and at least one 400-level course; these 7 courses must include at least 2 area courses and 3 CRES-Anthropology courses.

- CRES Disciplinary Group II must be satisfied in a second HSS department.
- Proficiency in a foreign language (see below).

Proficiency in a foreign language

Proficiency in a non-English language is demonstrated by successful completion of secondary education in that language, successful completion of two units of college-level courses in that language at a second-year level or one unit at a higher level, successful completion of a language placement examination approved by the committee, or approval of the committee.

Note: Introduction to Anthropology: History, Theory, Method (211) is geared toward sophomores. It assumes a sound grounding in the humanities and sciences, and an understanding of Western culture, prior to the analysis of non-Western societies. The 300-level courses are open to all students who have taken 211. The 400-level courses are aimed at juniors and seniors, although sophomores are allowed. Topics in Contemporary Anthropology (201) is open to first-year students but is not required for the major.
