

Starvation Creek

I like this one because it's for lazy people who got a late start. Get on I84 WEST. After about 8 miles, take the Vento Campground Exit. At the exit, turn left (away from the river). The road curves to the left and there is parking. The trailhead is just before the parking.

The trail begins along the freeway, which is a mite disappointing, but you bag 3 waterfalls on this short hike. Maybe it's maybe 1 mile to Starvation Creek, where there is a bathroom. Starvation Creek Falls is just up the hill from the bathrooms. Continue past Starvation Creek Falls (trail continues past the restrooms).

After 1/2 mile you first come to Cabin Falls and then Warren Falls. Warren Falls has a cool bathtub size pool, perfect for cooling off.

. On the way, if you pass blackberry bushes with ripe blackberries. Eat as many as you can!

Stay on the trail, as there is poison oak in the area.

Check out: <http://www.mind.net/dlmark/gorgesta.htm>

