

Wahclella Falls

This is a very easy hike. Take I-84 E to exit 40 (about 27 miles from Hood River). Turn left onto Tanner Creek Road (to the right is Bonneville Dam). You could see the waterfall, Dam, and fish hatchery, or just to the waterfall hike. It's less than a mile for the whole walk. The trail goes out, loops around, and comes back. When the trail splits, I would take the left fork on the way out, and reward yourself with a dip in the stream or sun on the rocks on the way back. There are many great spots for a picnic on the west side of the trail (way back by my instructions).

It's crowded on the weekends so its best during the week. If the parking lot is full, there is an overflow lot up the road. Don't leave anything valuable in your car, as a few car break-ins have been reported.
