

Economics 314
Daily Question #1

Spring 2013
January 30

In thinking about Mankiw's "scientist" and "engineer" aspects of macroeconomics, why are both important? When they interview macroeconomists for a job, do you think the Federal Reserve would be more interested in the science or the engineering? How about the Wall Street Journal? The MIT Economics Department?