

"HOW'D YOU DO ON THE TEST?"

"I DID GOOD, I THINK."

"THAT'S NOT GRAMMATICALLY CORRECT.
IT'S SUPPOSED TO BE 'WELL,' NOT 'GOOD'."

The Linguistic Reality:

There is no single “correct” way to speak English. Is it really the case that you can’t understand someone when they use “non-standard” language? When we police someone’s language, are we judging the way they speak, or are we really judging them?
